THE CARE OF THE SICK: THE EMERGENCE OF MODERN NURSING, by Vern and Bonnie Bullough. "This volume on the history of nursing is well researched, interestingly articulated, and easily read. It is comprehensive in that it begins with primitive peoples, chronicles subsequent periods, and ends with issues and happenings in the mid-1970s. . . . it would be appropriate as a text for undergraduate students, a reference for graduate students, and fascinating reading for nurses who desire to brush up on the 'roots' of their profession. . . . well referenced and indexed with 74 pages of footnotes, bibliography, and index." (AMERICAN JOURNAL OF NURSING) ". . . gives a very good sense of the development of modern nursing, highlighting appropriately those parts of the development that are particularly women's issues." (MEDICAL CARE) 311 pages $15.00 PRODIST, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York, NY 10010. EB1375
